MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

The Lahore University of Management Sciences (LUMS), ranked amongst top 15 universities in SAARC by QS University Rankings Asia 2016, has long positioned itself as a leader in developing and imparting business education. Thirty years ago, LUMS pioneered the first state-of-the-art business school in the country, the Suleman Dawood School of Business (SDSB) which introduced the Case Study Method of teaching. Its top-notch faculty, its commitment towards excellence and appreciation for talent has led it to receive the highest quality category accreditation by the National Business Education Accreditation Council. We are also now in the process of getting accreditation from international accreditation bodies like AACSB and EQUIS.

As a testament to our academic rigour, the Harvard Business Publishing (HBP) will now encompass distribution of SDSB cases through their website, making the School's cases available to a global audience. A major achievement for the Case Research Centre, this partnership places SDSB and LUMS on the international case map.

Diversity is a benchmark of the institution’s student body. Ever since its inception, LUMS has attracted foreign students from across the globe. This culturally diverse socio-academic environment gives impetus to gaining personal and professional skills. The University lays a strong emphasis on supporting top talent worldwide and offers generous scholarships to deserving international students.

Today, SDSB is recognised for excellence in three interconnected areas: research, teaching and service. The School supports dissemination and creation of relevant and responsible research with specific emphasis on values of responsibility, integrity and diversity as part of the content. Additionally, our case method pedagogy enables critical integration of organisational examples into the curriculum. Thirdly, service refers to a continued commitment and contribution to industry, academic community and the wider society.

SDSB's flagship MBA programme produces graduates who are strategic and entrepreneurial in nature, team players, ambitious and capable to turn around organisations. A significant portion of our graduate students’ time is devoted to experiential learning materialised through mandatory industry analysis, entrepreneurial ventures and consulting assignments. MBA students are also exposed to a global learning environment through our international exchange programmes with 13 universities, whereby they understand the transnational nature of today’s businesses. Recruitment drives, seminars and networking initiatives are integral components of the programme. The LUMS MBA Placement Office educates, connects and advises students about opportunities in the professional world. We are proud of the high percentage of graduates who have been recruited across the globe and are contributing to the economy and society through their leadership acumen.

Our faculty is a rich conglomerate of the finest PhDs from across the globe. Forty-six of them hold doctorate degrees from the best universities of the world. This group of educators and researchers inculcate a sense of exceptional commitment in the students and the classroom setup demands them to bring out their leadership skills. Dedicated to excellence in research and education, SDSB faculty members are known to have a deep understanding of the rapidly changing world economy as well as complex business environments. They are invited as speakers and advisors on international forums to discuss issues of global concern and key business trends. They are also active in research, applying cutting edge methodologies to tackle both domestic and global economic and management issues.

Tapping into our extensive network of 27,000+ executive alumni and 11,000+ University alumni, corporate partners and visiting executives, SDSB offers the best platform for innovation and for challenging conventional thinking in business. Our alumni are not only founders of exciting start-ups but they also lead multinational corporations and spread the essence of LUMS’ education and values, both locally and internationally.

On behalf of all of us here at LUMS, I encourage you to explore our programme and the campus life and become a part of our ever-expanding network of excellence.

CASE METHOD PEDAGOGY

During the two years at LUMS, students work on over 500 cases which develops in them the ability to make decisions in a broad range of “real-world” situations. This methodology cultivates leaders who are fully prepared to solve problems and face challenges across local and global contexts.

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING

LUMS MBA programme is at par with global MBA models. Students work on real business problems. They work with faculty and mentors to apply their learnings to business issues and derive analytical insights. This is done by using on-field learning exercises in synergy with case based teaching that draws from both local and global business scenarios. They use concepts learnt in class and apply them in interactive exercises through industry engagement, entrepreneurial drills and consultancy projects.

ACADEMICS

Summer Orientation Programme (SOP)
SOP is aimed at developing a sound knowledge base for students that helps them perform exceptionally well when they enter the rigorous two-year programme. It builds their business fundamentals through critical modules in Communication, Business, Finance and Computer Applications. SOP also orientates students with the business school and helps them become an active participant of the LUMS student community.

Year I | Core Courses
The Year I core courses are designed to teach concepts that provide the foundation of general management education. From fundamental management courses to decision modelling and financial reporting, to analytical and critical thinking, to driving economic development of an organisation with ethics and social responsibility, these diverse courses build intellectual capital and produce graduates who are ready for today’s competitive business landscape.
Experiential Learning I

Experiential I, covered in the first semester, comprises an Industry Analysis Exercise. This module helps students understand and analyse a selected industry and its market dynamics in detail. Not only do they examine the holistic business environment of the industry and its key players but also analyse current practices, predict future trends and provide strategic recommendations. Additionally, the exercise provides regular opportunities to stay connected with the business world and build relevant networks that go a long way.

Experiential Learning II

In semester 2, students conceive, test and commercialise an original business idea. Starting from opportunity identification and feasibility analysis to business model development, this module gives students a holistic understanding of a business as a total enterprise by applying theory, practice, experience and talent in one coherently built module. Students accumulate skills critical to an entrepreneurial mindset, leadership and management. This allows our students to excel and transfer their expertise to any business setting, whether it is starting their own passion project or working for a renowned multinational organisation.

Summer Internship

This is a mandatory project-based internship of at least 6 weeks between the first and the second year. It offers a working platform to reinforce the skills learnt during the first year into an actual business environment and drive meaningful change. Students gain hands-on experience of managing real life business challenges under the mentorship of top executives. They also build valuable professional connections that help them later in many ways, including permanent placements.

Year II | Elective Courses

In year II, students select from a wide range of electives offered in multiple disciplines. This mix of general management and specialist courses through the two years makes our graduates truly versatile and ideal candidates for careers across a range of functions and industries.

These elective streams include Finance, Marketing, IT/Operations and Organisational Behaviour, Human Resource Management and Strategy.

Experiential Learning III

The third experiential learning module, covered in the first 10 weeks of semester 4, the MBA Consultancy Project (MCP), provides students the opportunity to apply their classroom learning in an actual business context. Students exclusively work on a specific client’s consulting project in small groups, under the supervision of a faculty member from SDSB. Interim progress is monitored by the faculty supervisor and senior management of the client. The entire project culminates in a formal presentation to relevant stakeholders and submission of final reports.

"I teach Marketing and Managing Social Enterprises. In my Marketing classes, I teach students how to make money, in my non-profit classes, I hope to teach them how to spend it wisely. Any student joining the LUMS MBA should be in for a shock. At SDSB, students unlearn their bad habits fast. Here they will be asked to present and defend their diagnosis and solutions of business situations day in and day out with faculty members only facilitating the process. They should expect sleepless and tension-filled nights and breathless marathons during the days. At the end of the two years they will evolve as aspiring entrepreneurs, visionary managers and responsible adults."

Dr. Ehsan Ul Haque
Professor, Marketing

“Our MBA is extremely rigorous. It will entertain you, excite you and no matter what your background, it will make you do more. Our demanding course pushed you to your limit and brings you closest to what it is like working in the cut-throat corporate environment. Our approach is outside inside, where we pick original local case studies, with insights of what is happening in the industry. Students learn the tools and practices in class, so whenever our students are presented with a real life problem, they are able to draw from theoretical concepts and put them in practice. The resources we deploy to train our students are so sophisticated that other institutes cannot simply afford. I like calling it ‘Experiential learning on steroids’.

Dr. Jamshed H. Khan
Professor, Statistics and Operational Strategy

“LUMS MBA is driven by case based and experiential learning philosophy. Our students keep a holistic picture in mind, which includes both the company strengths and the external environment they face. Over the course of their programme, they participate in class discussions, visit various companies to understand their value chain, start their own start-ups and provide consultancy services to companies. This interactive nature of the programme keeps me endlessly fascinated by our students. Teaching them is as much of a learning experience for me as it is for them. They make me eager to excel in my teaching, my research as well as in my ability to write cases."
